

Model Houses in $6,000 Range To Be Built on "Yakima" Plan

Several model houses will be erected in Twin Falls to acquaint veterans with the type of dwelling they can expect at a cost of between $5,000 and $6,000, it was tentatively decided Wednesday night at a meeting of contractors and representatives of building trades, civic and service clubs.

William Parks, Boise, federal housing expediter, described the Yakima plan for building low-cost houses for veterans, at the meeting which was called by R. L. Sumnerfield, chairman of the mayor's housing committee.

Consensus of the conference was that low-cost houses can be built in considerable numbers through the channeling of building materials which would assure contractors that they will suffer no delay through lack of materials.

Contractors present pointed out that costly delays are continually caused by having to take work crews on and off building projects several times for want of materials to keep them working. If materials can be channeled a crew of workmen could complete all of their work on one house and then be sent immediately for similar work on another house.

The $5,000-$6,000 price does not include cost of the lot upon which the house is to be built. Property owners at the meeting suggested a plan to register the location, price and availability of lots both on an individual and project basis.

Further discussion of the price question on the part of contractors revealed that most veterans want to build their "dream homes" now, and that such houses cost from $12,000 to $15,000 without lots.

The contractors felt that construction of several model homes in the $5,000 to $6,000 range would show the veterans what a comfortable, well-constructed house can be had at that price—housing which would (Continued on Page 2, Column 2)

Miners Protest

Walkout in the nation's soft coal fields which began an hour after the Hartley labor bill became law leaves mounting numbers of idle miners and miners. Principal areas affected are (1) Alabama, where virtually all of the 22,000 miners are idle; (2) Pennsylvania, 38 mines closed, with some 30,000 miners starting an early vacation; strikes spreading rapidly through (3) Ohio and (4) West Virginia. AFL Unions' Plea Of General Strike Rejected by Green

By The Associated Press
AFL President William Green today rejected pleas from member unions for a general strike in protest against the new Hartley labor union control law. Green called presidents of the AFL's 105 unions to a conference in Washington July 9. He told reporters, after an emergency meeting with resident members of the AFL's influential executive council, that he thought it "unwise and inadvisable" to bow

Small Twister Hits Farm Near Hansen

HANSEN, June 26—With no warning other than a severe dust storm and sultry spell which preceded it, a "twister" about 60 feet high struck the Leon S. Haslam farm three miles south and one-quarter of a mile west of Hansen at 4 p. m. Wednesday causing considerable property damage.

In a period of less than two minutes, the "twister" carried a haystack 150 feet before overturning it, blew over outbuildings, uprooted several trees, blew down privately owned utility poles, and caused other damage.

Among the trees blown down was one having a diameter of more than three feet. Haslam said a bulldozer failed to topple that tree last year.

Haslam was in a nearby field raking hay when the "twister" struck and said that when he turned the other way he saw for the first time the damage which had been done. Hay was scattered not only on the Haslam farm but through a wide area southwest of Hansen.

Truman Veto Kills Bill for Wool Support

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—President Truman today vetoed the wool price support bill authorizing higher trade barriers against foreign wool imports.

Mr. Truman objected to features he said would have an adverse effect on international relations without necessarily supporting domestic wool producers.

"Tragic Mistake"

Mr. Truman said enactment of the bill would be "a tragic mistake." This had been the position of Secretary of State George C. Marshall who was opposed to the bill.

Mr. Truman objected to providing additional barriers to the importation of wool at a time when this government was taking a leading part in the United Nations conference at Geneva. That conference was called for the purpose of reducing trade barriers and securing a charter for an international trade organization.

"Blow to Leadership"

"It would be a blow to our leadership in world affairs," he said, "and would be interpreted around the world as a first step on the same road to economic isolationism down which we and other countries traveled after the first World war with high tariff consequences."

The house and senate votes approving the wool bill indicated that neither could override the veto. The vote was 48-32 in the senate and 218-197 in the house. A two-thirds majority is necessary to override a presidential veto.

Mr. Truman said he had no objection to provisions of the bill continuing through next year support of the domestic wool industry at levels not lower than those of 1946.

New Bill Introduced

Shortly after the President's message arrived on Capitol Hill, Senator Robertson, R., Wyo., introduced a new bill in line with Mr. Truman's proposal.

It would merely continue the present price support program and authorize the monetary credit corporation to dispose of its wool holdings at less than parity prices if necessary.

Carload of Hogs Will Be Shipped Into Area

In an effort to alleviate the shortage of pork in Magic Valley, a carload of corn-fed Iowa hogs is being shipped here on an experimental basis, Mel W. Carter, local market owner, announced today. The hogs, Poland-Chinas, described as choice butchers, are scheduled to arrive Friday or Saturday.

Hogs are not grown in sufficient numbers in Magic Valley to meet local demands, although prior to the war, hogs were shipped from Buhl every week.

Carter said that a Nampa meat packing concern is shipping in both cattle and hogs. He stated that he is shipping in the carload of hogs only on an experimental basis, but that he plans to bring in more when the first shipment proves successful.

Carter said his reasons for shipping in the Iowa porkers are that they are of higher quality and more available. Better feed is responsible for their higher quality, he said, and they should produce better ham and bacon.

He said the price for the corn-fed hogs is a little higher but that he believes they will dress out with less waste. He has been paying $26 per hundredweight for local hogs and paid $24.75 to Walt and Lake for those being shipped here. He expects freight, feeding costs and shrinkage to make the final price between $26 and $27.

Carter commented that since the war and the start of a federal grading system, very little local meat has been available. The majority of the meat is running a grade, because of the difference in feeds for livestock in the corn-belt and here.

'Aid-to-Europe' Plan Given Solid Backing

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The world received assurances today, on the eve of the critical Molotov-Bevins-Bidault economic conference, that the American government is solidly behind Secretary of State Marshall's proposals for European recovery based on self-help. Diplomatic officials were concerned for a brief period late yesterday that the Paris conference might be considerably upset by some evidence to the contrary due to comments on the Marshall plan by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

The possibility of an apparent conflict between the two members of President Truman's cabinet most concerned "with foreign financing was regarded here as a potential threat to any real progress in the Paris meeting. The great issue there is Russian cooperation in a joint European recovery program.

"Incident" Explained

What happened in the Snyder incident was this:

The treasury secretary, who is also chairman of the government's national advisory council on foreign financing, had a news conference yesterday at which he was questioned about Marshall's Harvard program.

At one point he was asked: "Don't you understand Secretary Marshall's speech to mean that he is inviting them (the Russians) to come to us with an application for such relief as is necessary?"

"Aids Self-Inventory"

"By no means," Snyder replied. "My interpretation is that he is asking them to make a self inventory and see what they can do for themselves."

A questioner then asked, "And don't you think there is any offer of United States assistance in Secretary Marshall's speech on that subject?"

To which Snyder responded, "No matter how we have had evidence of all along."

Two Persons Hurt in One of Six Crashes

Two persons were hospitalized and considerable property damage was listed as the result of six automobile accidents reported by law enforcement officers Thursday.

Chris Tapfer, Alhambra, Calif., was reported in "fair" condition at the Twin Falls county general hospital.

Levee Break Floods Iowa Capital Area

DES MOINES, June 26 (AP)—The Des Moines river tore a gaping hole in a mile-long levee protecting a 25-block residential section today and flooded waters swirled through it without hindrance.

The break came little more than an hour before a severe flood-creek toward Red Rock, Edgewood, Ottumwa and Keosauqua—each of which has been flooded at twice this month and now faces a third onslaught.

The 2022 reading broke the former all-time high of 187 established 13 days ago at Scott street. The weather bureau said it became apparent that the crest was reached after both Des Moines and the Racoon held steady for several hours and then slowly started falling.

Residents in the area had been warned earlier to leave their homes. There are about 135 residences in a number of small businesses in the area.

The Missouri river on the Iowa-Nebraska border continued to rise, the flood crest moving downstream 15 days ago at Scott street. The weather bureau said it became apparent that the crest was reached after both Des Moines and the Racoon held steady for several hours and then slowly started falling.

Buhl's Sewer Plans Receive Federal Okay

BUHL, June 26—The federal works administration has approved a $415,000 allocation of planning funds for the construction of a main trunk sewer and laterals as extension to the present sewer system, Leonard Almqvist, mayor, announced.

Almqvist said efforts would be made to call a special bond election as soon as plans are drawn and a survey made. He said the city hoped to call the bond election by this fall.

Six-Death Train Accident Probed

SHELBY, O., June 26 (AP)—New York Central railroad officials today sought to learn if St. Louis passenger train was violating caution orders when it ran into the wrecked train.

The two locomotives jumped the track and caused the death of six, possibly seven, persons last night.

A railroad official, who declined to be quoted by name, said papers ordering "caution" through the area were found on the body of an engineer.

He said "caution" meant less than 20 miles an hour.

Witnesses both on and off the train estimated the special's speed at the time of the derailment at 50 miles an hour.

Seed Certification Deadline Tuesday

BOISE, June 26 (UP)—The deadline for requesting certification of potato and bean seed is July 1, the Idaho Crop Improvement association announced today.

Applications for certification of the two crops must be in the Boise office by midnight July 1. Blanks may be obtained at county houses or from association field offices in Twin Falls.

GOP Budget Drive Bites Own Hand; Legislative Funds Cut

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today decided today the economy-preserving Republican-controlled congress will have to cut $100,000,000.

It recommended a cut of $100,000,000 in the budgeted cost of operating the legislative branch of the federal government in the fiscal year beginning next October.

However, only $75,000,000 of the savings would be at the expense of the senate and the house. The congressional retirement fund, which had raised salaries of members and provided for additional staff pruning, was little room for sharp pruning.

The bill cuts would be the first part of the legislative branch.

The committee approved a total cut of $100,000,000, a reduction of about 10 percent of the total cost of the legislative branch.

The bill cuts would be the first part of the legislative branch.

Bikini Test Slated

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 (AP)—Navy officials will make a detailed study of Bikini island this summer to determine what effects remain from the two atomic bomb tests there last year, the 12th naval district headquarters said today.

New Act to Set Sugar Stability, Solon Foresees

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Representative Hill, R., Colo., said today the sugar bill being drafted by the house agriculture committee should give stability to the domestic industry for the next five years.

Hill said the bill would stabilize prices on sugar, but assure sufficient quantities for consumers, he told a reporter.

The bill, which Hill explained has been agreed upon by most segments of the sugar industry, is expected to be recommended to the house by the committee tomorrow.

Hill said he particularly favored these provisions of the bill:

1. A stipulation that the secretary of agriculture in determining the overall national consumption of sugar shall consider the general health of the sugar industry.

2. A provision that in event the Philippines should be unable to fill their production quota for use in the United States, Cuba will be permitted to make up 90 per cent of the deficit.

He is serving 20 days in the county jail in lieu of payment of the fine.

U. N. Faces Difficult, Uncertain Road on Entering Third Year

LAKE SUCCESS, June 26 (AP)—The world's top-flight political leaders in a session today in Lake Success, N. Y., were discouraged by temporary setbacks of the enterprise launched two years ago in the hope of the world for lasting peace.

The warnings were voiced in recorded charter day messages broadcast to the world by President Truman, U. S. Secretary of State Acheson, Premier Ramadier of France, President Chiang Kai-shek of China and Deputy Premier Acheson.

At the same time each of the representatives of the five big powers expressed conviction that the United Nations would succeed and pledged the world organization the full support of their governments.

President Truman, declaring that the U. N. so far "has gone forward in an atmosphere of disturbance and uncertainty" said the government and people of the U. S. were aware that realization of the organization's objectives "is not easy."

Early Merge Seen

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—AFL President William Green said today the enactment of the Hart-Hartley labor law would bring the CIO and the AFL closer together and perhaps unite them within a year.

He declined, however, to predict when the time of a possible merger would come.

CIO President Philip Murray said he had "no comment" to make on Green's merger prediction, and other CIO officials said no further plans for such were under consideration.

Governor to Attend Buhl's Rodeo Friday

BUHL, June 26—Gov. C. A. Robins will attend the Buhl rodeo Friday night and if he arrives here from Sun Valley in time the chief executive will ride in the parade scheduled to begin at 3 p. m.

The parade, which will open the two-day rodeo, also being sponsored by the Buhl Rodeo Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will form south of the Boise-Payette road, just west of the rodeo grounds, where a 10-man coroner's jury found that the cause of death of Roy O. No Inquest Is Set in Burley Street Death

BURLEY, June 26—No inquest will be held in the murder of William J. Cavanaugh, 54, Burley printer, Coroner Vern B. McCulloch announced today.

"No inquest will be held because the autopsy ordered by the coroner was a cause of death and the case now rests with the city and county law enforcement officers," McCulloch said.

No Request

He explained that no relative had requested an inquest and that Mr. Cavanaugh's remains would be disposed of by the county under supervision of the coroner.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Buell H. Clark said the suspect being held in connection with the case had signed a waiver releasing sheriff's officials from responsibility in holding him in jail pending investigation of the case. The suspect has consented to remain confined in jail until investigation is completed.

Avail Report

Sheriff Clark said Burley police officials were waiting word from Washington, D. C., on the post record of the suspect being held.

Mr. Cavanaugh died last Friday afternoon at his home at 414 N. 1st street in front of the Atomic club in Burley's business district. The cause of death was listed as "heart failure" by Dr. C. A. Terhune and Dr. B. S. Sutton showed he died of a cerebral hemorrhage due to a blow on the head, which was the cause of death.

Four Men Fined for Drink, Disturbance

Double Wage,
Less Poverty
Said Possible

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker Corporation, believes that with "wise action" the United States can double the real income of most of its citizens in 25 years and "largely" abolish the age-old dream of abolishing poverty.

But he said this would require "restraint" by both labor and management. If the "tidal wave" of wage demands continues, he said, chances for lower prices will be destroyed and the entire economy upset.

Hoffman, who is also board chairman of the committee of economic development, a businessmen's group, yesterday gave the joint congressional economic committee one of the most optimistic appraisals of the future yet offered by any important American leader.

Declaring that there can never be complete stability in a "free economy," he said he was firmly convinced the nation can prevent future depressions and "hold the swing between the peaks and valleys to 15 to 20 per cent."

"We cannot live with fluctuations such as that which took place between 1929 and 1933," he warned. "Another collapse of that magnitude might cost us our free economy."

But if the U. S. can learn to operate its economy more efficiently, he said, "the real income of most of our people can be doubled within the next 25 years."

Double Plate for
'48 Is Suggested

BOISE, June 26 (AP)—Possibility that Idaho automobiles may bear two license plates in 1948 was suggested today by State Purchasing Agent Harold Boyd.

However, Boyd emphasized that the question of whether the state will return to the two-plate system hinges on the matter of how much money is available.

It is certain, however, that next year's tags will bear a replica of the famed Idaho potato. The 1947 legislature specified that plates for 1948 and 1949 should bear such a figure.

The Idaho state prison will manufacture the tags next year.

Americans increased their per capita production of citrus fruits from 15 to 75 pounds in the past 30 years.

Speed Planes

REIDLETON, Ore., June 26 (AP)—Residents of Reidleton sought an explanation today for the nine strange "saucer-shaped" planes an amateur pilot claimed he saw flying at an estimated speed of 1,200 miles an hour across southwestern Washington.

The story was told by Kenneth Arnold, flying fire extinguisher salesman from Boise, Ida.

"Slightly Bug-Krye"

He landed here, slightly bug-eyed yesterday and told how he spotted the "extremely shiny nickel-plated saucers" skimming along at 10,000 feet on Tuesday. Arnold was on a search for a missing marine corps plane at the time.

"They were shaped like saucers and were so thin I could barely see them," he told Jack Whitman, a local businessman.

"There were nine of them and they were flying in a screwy formation about 25 miles away from me. It wasn't any military formation I ever saw before. And they were traveling faster than I ever saw before."

Times Clocked

"I figure they were moving about 1,200 miles per hour because I clocked them with a stop watch during the time it took them to fly from Mount Rainier to Mount Adams. That's 62 miles and they made it in one minute 42 seconds—about 1,200 miles per hour."

Arnold said the strange aircraft were skittering across the southwest slope of Mount Rainier when he first sighted them.

Whitman suggested tactfully, that Arnold had "been seeing things" but the pilot insisted "I must believe my eyes."

There was no comment from military authorities on Arnold's story.

Crazy Hat
Wins Refrigerator!

One of those "Breakfast in the morning" radio shows came to Capitol City last week, and Sarah Carey won first prize for wearing the craziest hat in the audience. It was a "faded refrigerator" (The prize, not the hat).

"Glad them hats of hers paid off at last," says Ed, treating the whole thing like a joke. But you could see he was proud of Sarah.

From where I sit, there's another thing Ed can be proud of: the way he's put up with those hats of Sarah's, with never a criticism; just as she's put up with Ed's pipe and the other little freedoms he enjoys.

They've got that refrigerator home now, stocked with beer; and we're going over tonight to drink a toast—not just to Sarah's latest taking first prize ... but to a happy married couple, who've learned to live with one another's differences in tastes—whether it's a taste for hats or beer!

"Washington Calling" By Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON—In sending the Taft-Hartley labor bill to the White House, the Republicans in congress were also saying to Mr. Truman: "Head! I wish, while you see from the point of view of 1942 politics, they stood to gain whether the bill became law or whether it was rejected."

A little background, plus a glance ahead, makes clear why this was so. There was hardly a chance, once the bill was passed, that the proper aura of moderation and reasonableness, that the end result for the Truman administration would be anything but a red entry in the political balance sheet.

One of the most persuasive arguments against the bill came from Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug. In a letter to the President, he analyzed the labor bill in relation to the coal situation and since coal means jobs, Krug undertook to measure the effects of the legislation against his guess as to Lewis' intentions.

Mr. Krug's letter to the President outlined it to the President, for a coal strike. And the wave of "wildcat" walkouts seems to have borne out his contention.

Lewis is almost certain to throw his weight around shortly after the June 30 deadline. In his struggle to become head of the whole labor movement, he has to demonstrate to the ground that he is more than the leaders, who have settled for so-called coal-of-firing increases without strikes.

Under the terms of the bill passed by congress, the President could get the ground under Lewis' feet by a coal strike which would constitute a national emergency. This would serve to delay a strike for from 60 to 80 days.

But the law could not prevent Lewis from striking in the fall. There are those who believe that the door may have been deliberately left open for Lewis. The law passed by a Republican congress, the "Taft-Hartley" bill.

In the face of such a situation the President can point to the same weakness that he called attention to in the White House. He can say that there is nothing in the law to stop a coal strike.

The Republicans, however, have a very powerful political comeback. If the walkouts become "official," the Republicans will say that obviously the President never wanted the law to work. Didn't he veto it?

When the powers of government are divided, with one party in control in congress and another party in the White House, it is the President who always loses. That was the lesson of Herbert Hoover in 1931 and '32.

The tragedy is that these years of the great divide should come when there are so many major decisions for decision. One of them is free collective bargaining and the role of the labor union in our society. The politics of a pre-election year do not help much in the solution.

Let Senator Pepper, Henry Wallace, the radical labor leader and a few of the other great "liberals," including our own Sen. Glen Taylor, take their case before the American voters under a third party banner if they wish.

The sooner we decide what is best for this country, the better, and we can best judge how to decide when all the contestants are flying under their true colors.

NOW IT'S LABOR'S TURN
Of course organized labor doesn't like the act congress has passed over the President's veto, but that is no reason why the unions or their leaders should take an attitude of open defiance.

Let labor do everything in its power to repeal this act legally, but so long as it remains a law, the unions should respect its provisions as representing the will of the people.

To launch upon a nation-wide demonstration of strikes in retaliation, now that congress has enacted controls against labor's abuses, would be un-American.

That point may be illustrated by developments in the opposite direction during the New Deal regime. Labor was then in the driver's seat and riding its greatest political opportunities for all they were worth.

And just like any other group that becomes drunk with power—whether it be labor, agriculture or industry—the trade unions went too far. They held the whip hand over industry—and did they know it!

As a result of all this power, the average industrial employer was virtually helpless. In disputes taken before the national labor relations board, he had three strikes on him before he went to bat. He was slapped around by government bureaucrats until he got groggy, knowing all the time that until labor's strangle hold was released, he wouldn't have a prayer.

But did industry and capital go on strike when the people, through their congress and government executives, decided to give "big business" a bad time? Not at all. In practically all instances it kept on producing as best it could under the circumstances.

Now that the people, through their chosen representatives, have decided that labor should be brought under certain controls, they also should take its medicine.

FATE OF THE INSTALLMENT PLAN
President Truman, who wants to see wartime controls on installment buying continued, has left it up to congress to decide the issue. We don't know how the nation's businessmen feel about it, but we imagine several million of the nation's consumers are awaiting the decision with mixed emotions.

Removal of the fascinating temptation to make on-the-cuff purchases has been quite a strain on the installment-plan addict. The consumer's cash has increased the tension. At the same time, several extra hands have been kept out of the domestic till since the lid went on. The absence of that dollar-down-and-dollar-a-week grab has added quite a sum to a good many family coffers.

We've no idea what congress will do about it, but one thing we're sure of. A lot of people are going to be disappointed either way.

Massachusetts man, while gardening, found a penny minted in 1788. It's too bad he didn't know anything.

There would be a suit for every day of the year if it were a stylus. Most of them do have a stylus, they wear it!

BIGGER AND BETTER
All hail to modern youth!
Last evidence of this war-battered group's prowess under "fire" is the tale of the three who led their firework's "saloonroom" blow up in their respective faces Tuesday.

According to parental reports, the lads are open again with a "bigger and better" than ever. (Their average age is slightly over 14.)

No dimwits, these "men."

FIRE SALE
Are the boys whose fireworks stand was destroyed when a lighted firework was tossed into Roman candles going to have a fire sale?

HUP, TWO, THREE
What do students, prospective students and other persons who may have occasion to visit the University campus, think of the choice for university president? Gen. Ike Eisenhower, that is.

Will Columbia students be marching to and from classes after General Ike takes over? Will they be getting classes in university customs, traditions, courtesy, etc.?

Will all freshmen be given an orientation course along with 13 weeks of basic training?

FAMOUS LAST LINE
... Another strike—and I still haven't got my new car.
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BOB HOPE
In order to produce a successful motion picture these days you don't necessarily need a million dollars, a best actor or a great cast.

All you need to do is follow what is known as formula. This has nothing to do with baby's formula, although it is mostly common sense to find it quite easy to do.

The old formula was boy meets girl, loses girl, boy gets girl, something like going steady with a girl.

But with publicity, the trend today they complicated this in one picture. It got so involved they met the girl only once and lost her twice.

No one noticed this except the background music was overwhelming and the heroine was wearing a troublesome bathing suit at the time.

Nature, they don't have much trouble with the formula for western pictures. All they need is a horse, a pair of swinging doors and a sunset and no matter what happens you know that in the last scene the cowboy hero ends up kissing his horse.

It's a terrible way to make a living.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—The original religion or philosophy in which Henry Wallace and some other political fire-walkers of the Roosevelt administration did some message around on the sky was not, as some of us may think, just harmless nonsense, like tea and reading and tricks with cotton wool.

When a fellow with an original makeup and the manner of a carnival fortune teller is a member of the cabinet of a President of the United States and obtain from him credentials for a prowling party of Asia where mischief was not just an occurrence but a major industry.

At this point, let me point out that Henry Wallace has never denied his association with Nicholas Roerich or any of the testimony in various litigations which depicted Roerich as an orientalist, a practitioner of magic, such as automatic writing, a devil and a fortune teller, a position which Louis L. Horch, of the department of commerce, described as "head" of Siberia.

At this point, I invite Wallace to deny any part of this, and threaten to prove all this and much more to him. It has been proved already and more will be proved beyond any question in a short time. I shall undertake to put other powerful personalities of the new deal into association with the same general circus.

Many of our professional politicians are taught early in the life never to deny anything. Wallace, however, has been presented to us as a man superior to the sordid professional of our politics. The truth about Henry is, however, that he plays the game according to the professional rules, using deception and evasion and guile as well as the best of them ever did.

Our sort of government and the western civilization are based on the 10 commandments. Our basic unit of society is the family. There is, however, no reason why the prophet of a new society, a new civilization and a new economy should accept the decalog.

"Thou shalt not steal" can be repudiated, obtained from the morality of the world as a false precept put over on Henry Wallace's common man to save him.

the expense of hiring policemen to guard his private property.
Some societies may get along without marriage and there would be a strong political appeal in the program of a preacher of an oriental philosophy who said to the rabble that there was nothing but prejudice and superstition to forbid matrimony in marriage or total promiscuity.

The trend to Lientounism has been in every direction, and the communist movement in the United States and Ben Olivo, who formerly was chief of the party here, frankly confessed that the communists had exploited this as an appeal to voters.

The master, the mauls or guru of the new faith, might be a callate, above temptations of the flesh, but such a society would give him a lot of rope.

The task of the revolution is to create doubt and then disruption to destroy the western civilization. Wallace himself may be intellectually unequal to the forces that might use him to accomplish the total revolution.

He certainly was not a strong man when he permitted himself to become a dupe of Nicholas Roerich, and again I tell you, that if he dares to deny that he was a dupe I will prove it to him.

I think it is a terrible mistake of so many Americans, and I do not know how many, to accept the flat assurance so often written by Wallace's press agents that he is an honest man.

If he were honest and not a sneak he never would have suffered his department of agriculture to be named Roerich, with a cowardly insinuation that he had been suspected of espionage in Asia, just when Roerich's financial interests were under vital litigation in court in New York.

The insinuation was cowardly because Wallace ran and hid and would not back it up. He was a sneak to conceal from the people of the United States the fact that Roerich

One of the valuable lessons all of us learned from the War," one dealer said, "was to order and store fuel well in advance of fall and winter needs. In that manner, the producer can maintain a steady production schedule at the mine, we can schedule around-the-calendar employment for our yard and delivery men, and home owners can make sure of fuel when fuel is needed."

"This same practice," he continued, "is even more necessary than it was two or three years ago. Consumers know that Aberdeen Coal is dependable, a fuel providing healthful and uniform heat. They have found that it is economical and they know that it retains all its naturally good heating qualities through summer storage."

Among dangers in delaying orders are cramped rail transportation later in the summer, increased demand, and inability of the mine to produce enough fuel during the heating season.

Marshall Aid Plan Doomed, Analyst Says

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AN APPEAL TO THE UNITED STATES PRAYDA'S latest attack on the Marshall proposal for unification of Europe's economy was so clear that the idea, as it applies to countries within the Russian sphere has two strikes against it.

First, the mouthpiece of the Politburo sees the proposal as an extension of the Truman doctrine. And that right, the doctrine being strongly directed toward stabilization of economies as the road to peace.

Healthy U. S. Important
Pravda also sees the proposal as an aid to American business, and again it is correct. Americans and Europeans need a healthy American economy as a keystone of the whole world structure. They want it presented as a healthy American economy, but see it as a barrier to their own design.

Second, the U. S. is determined that the communists shall not use relief for their own purposes. Wednesday's announcement of the safe-guarding against diversion in Austria is a good clue to what we intend to demand regarding the whole project.

No Reversal Expected
Also, the U. S. well understands that any sincere Russian participation in rehabilitation would mean a complete reversal of Moscow policy. No such reversal is expected.

The conclusion can be drawn that barring a completely unforeseen change in Russia's whole basic policy—the Paris conference will be unproductive. It is, however, a plan that will kill communism the slightest help in eastern Europe, Russia will oppose any plan that, by helping western Europe, will also strengthen the U. S.

Appeal Rejected, Mayor of Boston Will Serve Term

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston lost today his appeal for suspension of a six to 18 month jail sentence on mail fraud charges, and must serve it.

Denying the appeal, Justice James M. Proctor said "it regard the case as ended as far as the court is concerned."

The judge denied a plea of defense attorneys that the 72-year-old mayor be given a few days to clear up pressing municipal matters.

Curley, the judge declared, can settle the handling of any immediate city matters with his keepers.

Defense attorneys told the court that a jail sentence at this time might mean a "fatal termination," but Proctor was unmoved.

Curley, a strong influence in Boston and Massachusetts politics for nearly half a century, was indicted with three others on Jan. 3, 1942, on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with activities of Engineering Group, Inc. The government contended this firm falsely represented its ability to obtain war contracts for clients.

Curley finally was convicted on Jan. 18, 1946, and sentence pronounced just a month later.

Careful Mom, Style Change For Pop; too

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—The well-dressed man this fall will look more like himself than Tony Galento or Turhan.

It won't be the well-dressed man's fault. The gentlemen of the cross-dresser set—the tailors—are plotting against him.

The men with the thinlines and scissors, in convention here, are styling men's clothing to get away from the uniform cut that was the vogue during the war.

"Sharp Departure"
"Men's clothing this fall will be a sharp departure from the tight-fitting garment the G's and officers wore," said John B. Foreman, host at the meeting. The emphasis today is on softer lines—more comfort, easier styling. More arm, elbow and leg room.

Foreman could hardly wait to get out of the navy and his navy duds and drive into a conference with his designer, Thomas A. Laratta.

By using the shears, they figured out new ways to make fat men look slimmer and skinny men look fatter. And oddly enough, the formula for both was about the same.

Flaids Predominate
The emphasis on material this fall, the big atoms of the tailoring business said, will be on plaids—with grays and browns holding the upper hand for color.

For summer formals, the grays, whites and midnight blues get the nod—in plaids, yet.

Price Is Steady As 1,130 Cattle Sold at Auction

A good run of 1,130 head of cattle were sold at the regular Wednesday sale at the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Company, Co-owner Tom Callen reported, with the market holding steady except for half-fat cattle where it was a little slow. At last week's sale, 1,120 cattle sold for $130.00.

High prices were $24.75 per hundredweight paid to H. C. Jones, Esq., for a load of baby beef, and $14.40 paid for a load of good grass-fed cows in another sale.

Market quotations listed by Callen were:

Steers—Choice, $24 to $24.75; good, $22 to $23.75; common and medium, $15 to $16.50.

Heifers—Choice, $22 to $23.75; good grass fed, $18 to $21.75; common and medium, $15 to $16.50.

Veal calves sold at $15 to $22.75. Bulls brought from $12.75 to $16.25.
